I am not that skilled in using new libraries yet. Sometimes I find it easy but other libraries seem a bit harder to work with and I don't know where it goes wrong. I think I can get the Leaflet plugins to work in time because there is a lot of usage with them.

I have encountered difficulties with finding a library that will help create new routes instead of using routes from a database. Thus, it probably won't be feasible for me to have the user choose their start and end location from anywhere in the map. It would have to be from a specific point and I'll draw each route manually.
